Stock Trader News' Today's Top Headlines: 'Tobacco Lawyer' Takes on Alleged Stock Manipulators on Behalf of Endovasc and Promising Nicotine-Based Heart Treatment

HOUSTON--Sept. 13, 2002--Stock Trader News, independent, subscription-based news provider (www.stocktradernews.com) reported today in a copyrighted story that John O'Quinn, Houston attorney who won billions in lawsuits against R.J. Reynolds Tobacco and "Big Tobacco," has agreed to represent Endovasc Ltd, which has developed a nicotine-based heart attack treatment.

O'Quinn squeezed $2+ billion from the tobacco industry, The Stock Trader News story recalled. Now he has apparently decided on a new challenge, this one involving litigation against alleged stock manipulators of Endovasc's stock on behalf of a client which is using nicotine to save lives through a nicotine-based heart treatment.
